

Above—Miss Margaret Gorman, chosen as "Miss Washington," to represent the national capital at the Atlantic City beauty carnival.
(c) Harris & Ewing.

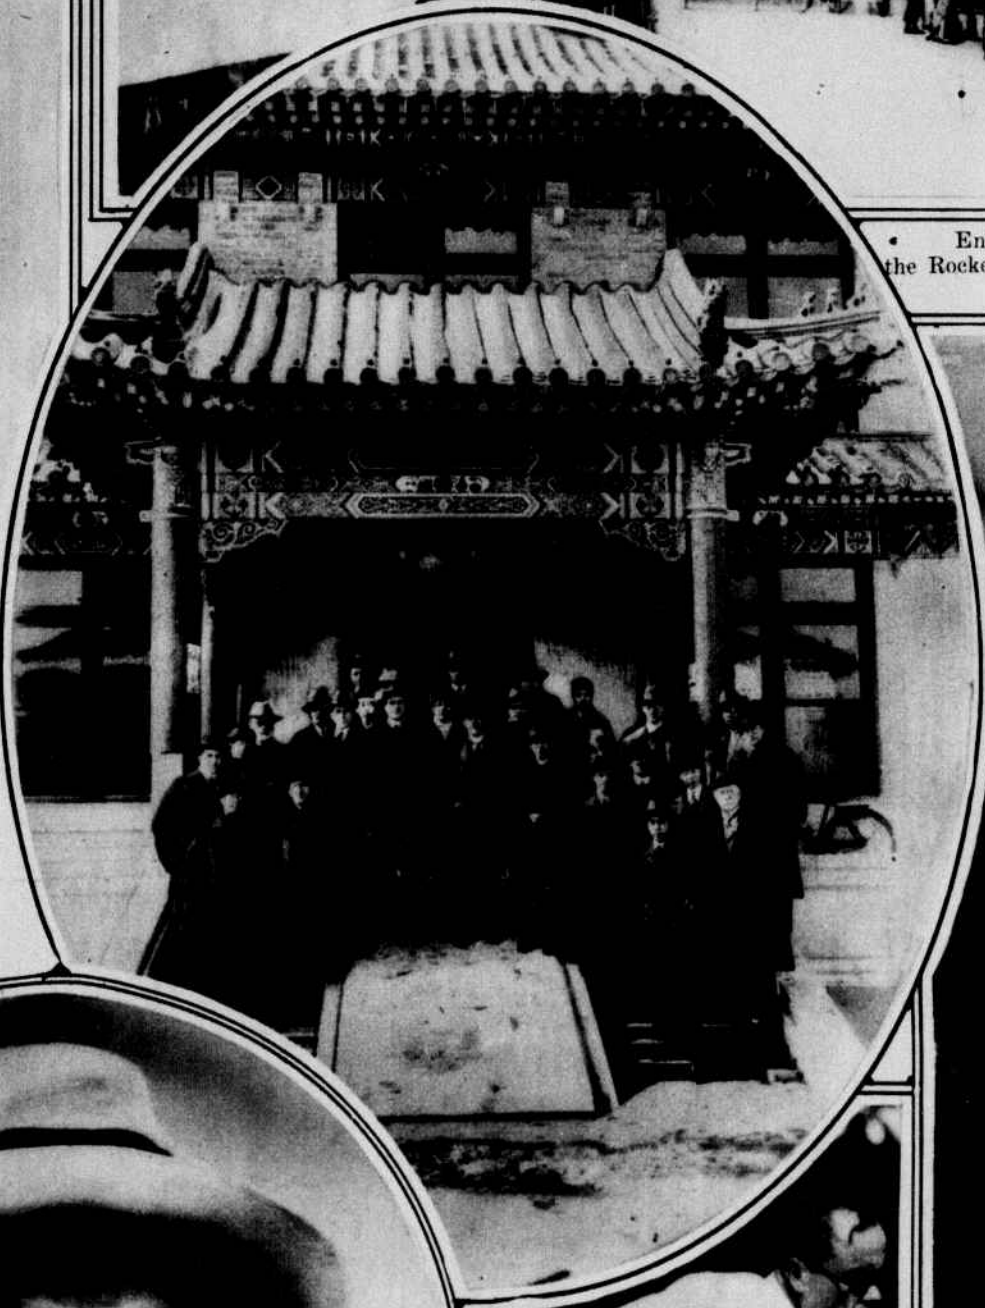

Entrance to the Peking Union Medical College, equipped and staffed by the Rockefeller Foundation, which it is planned to dedicate this week.

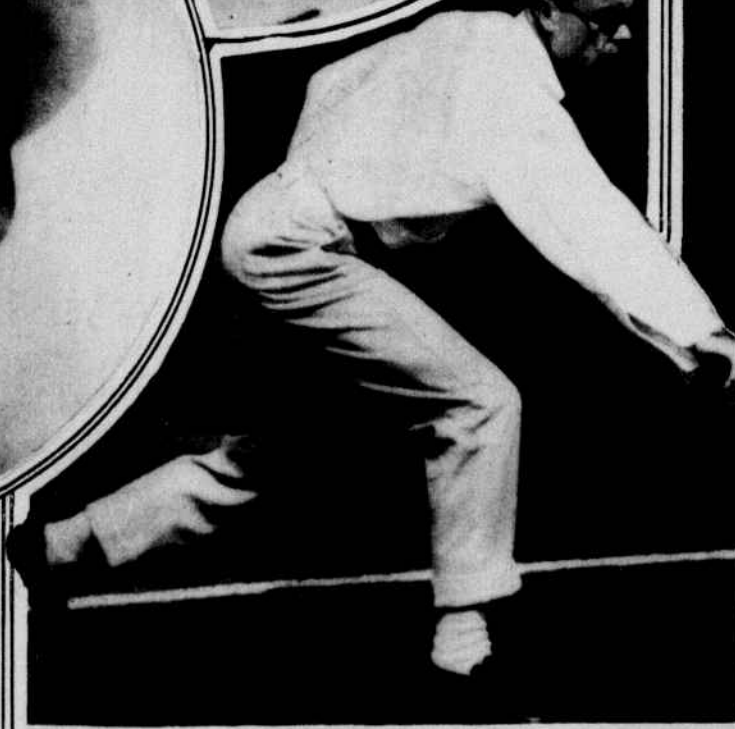

Above—William M. Johnston, who defeated Kumagae three straight sets, singles, in the challenge round for the Davis Cup.
N. Y. Herald Staff Photo.

At Right—The Anatomical and Anthropological Association of China, photographed at the entrance to the anatomical laboratory of the college.

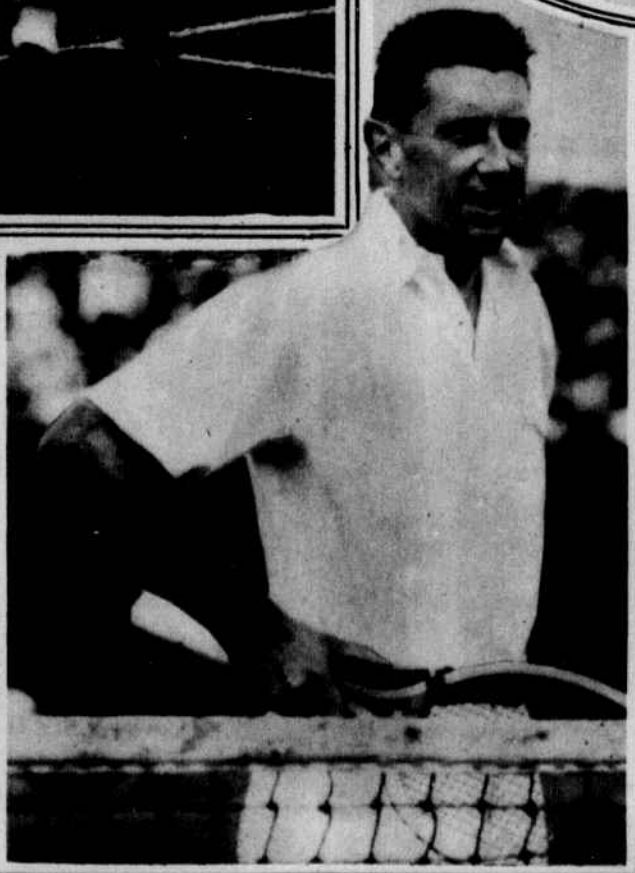

Above—Ichio Kumagae, Japanese tennis star, adept at the back court game, who battled valiantly in the Davis Cup matches.
International.

Here is Watson M. Washburn in action at Forest Hills. His play helped to clinch the retention of the international trophy in this country.
N. Y. Herald Staff Photo.

Zenzo Shimidzu and William T. Tilden, Jr., world's champion, photographed before their great match, which was won by Tilden after an exciting contest.
N. Y. Herald Staff Photo.

At Right—R. Norris Williams is the other member of the American pair who won the third and decisive match for the Davis Cup at the West Side courts.
N. Y. Herald Staff Photo.

Above—The New York City Police Department's annual games at Gravesend racetrack include startling feats of bravery and skill. Those who attend see a first class show and have the satisfaction of helping the pension fund as well.

In Circle—A rescue, made by a mounted man at a gallop, is one of the thrilling stunts at the annual police games. There is always a very large attendance and the spectators find ample entertainment.

